BETHEL A. C. WINS PTL

PLAY-OFF FINAL, 6-4; PARIS PROTEST DENIED

Before one of the largest crowds in the recent history of the Pine Tree League on Tuesday night, Bethel won the deciding game of a best of three playoff from South Paris by a score of 6-4. In the play-off series, necessitated by the two teams ending the regular PTL season in a tie, Paris drew first blood by burying the Bethel club Sunday, 21-7. Bethel evened things up on Monday at West Bethel as Howie Rolfe was the winning pitcher in a 7-1 decision.

The losers protested the Bethel victory as a result of a Paris scoring play in the top of the sixth, in which a South Paris batter was ruled to have come in contact with the ball while running out a hunt down the first base line. He was called out and two runs that scored on the play were disallowed.

Bethel went on to break the tie by making use of a hit batsman, a Paris error, a fly-ball on which a runner moved from second to third, and Rolfe's hit, which was followed in turn by a fly out, an error and then a walk that forced in an additional score.

Paris Protest Disallowed at Wednesday Meeting

Pine Tree League officials upheld umpire-in-chief Wayne Lago of Bryant Pond Wednesday night in a decision to throw out a protest by South Paris concerning a disputed play in Tuesday's play-off loss to Bethel. League President Bud Lamson said after a hearing on the subject that the game will stand as played, with Bethel the league champion and with Paris interests satisfied the matter has been thoroughly covered.

Paris Manager Ken Delano advanced the theory runs scored by Paris prior to a South Paris batter's touching a grounder down the first base line should have counted, but it was found the rule agrees with the interpretation of the umpires, who took action that amounted to instructing the runners to retreat.

South Paris people were considerably more satisfied concerning the decision upon learning several Paris players admitted they thought their teammate had contacted the ball while it was in play. Bethel Squadmyn to Meet Tonight

As a result of their winning the PTL championship the Bethel club will represent their league in the Yankee ABC play-offs at Auburn next week. A meeting of the Bethel team members will be held at the Bethel Community Room tonight (Thursday) at 8 p. m.

ACROSS the DESK

ideas from other editors

From the Canton Independent, Canton, Penn.: Every citizen should ask himself, from time to time, where he is headed and exactly what he is doing with his life. We do not pose as one who knows it all, or as a great moralizer who can tell everyone else how to live his life or her life.

On the other hand, we are admittedly idealistic enough to feel that the human race was put on the earth for some purpose. And, likewise, we believe that every citizen has an obligation to contribute something as he travels the road of life.

In small towns, large towns and in rural areas, there are many who spend one hundred per cent of their time seeking pleasure, self-indulgence and self-entertainment. Too often, money and a good time are the only goals that amount to much in the lives of many of us.

If you can show nothing for your life, if you have dedicated it to nothing in particular, and if you have not sincerely tried to leave just a little mark on your community, to create just a little good, to help your fellowmen in some small way, then we suspect that the life breather will be an empty one. The happiest people we have known, and the richest, are those who have done something for their fellowmen, and who have stood for something in their community.

We are here for a purpose and we must answer the test and decide what we will do with our lives.

From the Page News and Courier, Luray, Virginia: A lot of complacent individuals in the U. S. were set on their ears recently when a top Russian official in a TV interview said our grandchildren would enjoy the blessings of socialism.

Instead of the Russians bringing us state socialism (communism) it will come from within our own country, if it comes. We have already accepted the fore-runners of the socialist state—government in many lines of business. Elected public officials are seeking to extend its field of activity. They attack our capitalist system (private enterprise) and promise the people their God-given rights under non-profit government enterprise. A lot of people fall for that baloney and cast another vote for the promoters of socialism.

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

This country has a waning asset, and while it is a non-material asset, it is the most precious we possess. Its name is character, and in its decline we face the rapid deterioration of America. That somber theme is powerfully argued by William Henry Chamberlin, writing in the July 12th issue of National Review.

Mr. Chamberlin points out that material wealth, in which we abound, may be deceptive. Great and rich empires of the past—such as the Roman and the Byzantine—“passed too far gone in decay when put to the test of unexpected crisis.” Their resources seemed all but limitless, yet they were overcome and destroyed by barbarian tribes. We can do no better than to look at the achievements in wages, production and consumption, and so on, that there are other records which point to a very different conclusion. As he says, “over 200,000,000 of our citizens are committed in the United States last year—an all-time high figure. And an appalling percentage is committed by juveniles.”

It then makes an interesting and pertinent commentary on the crime problem. It has long been argued that the seeds of crime lie in poverty and want. But no country in history, probably, has suffered as little poverty and want as we do. Crime is at or near peak levels and wages are very high. Vast sums of money have been spent on crime eradication and on money therapy as it is known. And yet the crime rates soar.

which, in Mr. Chamberlin's view, means that “the whole comforting environmentalist theory that crime is a result not of bad people but of bad conditions has been disproved.”

These crime rates are not the only danger signs. We have, he feels, gone far along the road of the welfare state—and far away from the philosophy laid down by President Cleveland when he said that the people should support the government, but the government should not support the people. There has been a serious weakening of individual responsibility—and thus a serious increase in moral irresponsibility.

Mr. Chamberlin is convinced that this has in large part resulted from the influence of two men. One is Marx, who called religion the opium of the people. As Mr. Chamberlin puts it, “. . . man in the Marxian formula is stripped of human dignity and individuality. . . . There is no room . . . for the agonized struggle of the individual to achieve goodness and shun evil.” The other analysis, Freud believed that man's character “is irretrievably shaped by instincts and urges which are beyond the control of reason and conscience.” The upshot of all this is that “there is now a shameful, apologetic attitude toward the use of such words as virtue and vice, good and evil.”

Mr. Chamberlin's thesis is that the one thing no nation can afford to lose is the individual character of its citizens. He writes in conclusion: “To rescue the building individual character from its present low estate . . . to make it a primary objective, to the search for happiness, schools and religious here. Yet the crime rates soar.

'Private Enterprise' and 'Venture Capital'

TO HAVE UNTIL JUNE '58 TO APPLY FOR DISABILITY BENEFITS UNDER S S

The Lewiston social security office today called attention to new social security rights for persons who have been disabled for sometime, and for veterans with service-connected disabilities.

An amendment recently passed by the Congress and signed by the President extends through June 30, 1958 the time for persons disabled in years past to apply for the “disability freeze” on their social security accounts. Until this change, an individual disabled for more than about two and a half years lost his chance to benefit under the social security provisions unless he applied for the freeze before June 30, 1957. Failure to meet that deadline would have prevented him from protecting the benefit rights he had built up; it would also have barred him from qualifying for disability benefits on his social security account, because establishing the freeze is one of the requirements for receiving disability insurance between the ages of 30 and 65.

Persons more recently disabled will have six months from the time they became unable to work in which to apply for any possible advantages under the disability provisions.

Because of the urgency which has been attached to the June 30, 1957 time limit, the Social Security Administration conducted a vigorous effort to inform all those who might benefit under the disability provisions. The Citizens, in the interest of possible beneficiaries among its readers, published an account of the disability provisions pointing out that rights might be lost if the individual failed to act before last June 30. John M. Beale, district manager for social security in Lewiston, reports that despite the wide publicity afforded he believes there are still a small number of disabled persons in the area served by his office who have not applied for the freeze. They may start action by contacting the Social Security Administration, 65 Park Street, Lewiston, by mail, or through some relative or friend, Beale stated, and because of the recent change still have until June 30, 1958, in which to act.

The amendment relating to disabled veterans modified the “offset” requirement in the social security law, under which social disability benefits were to be reduced by the amounts of payments by the Veterans Administration, and of certain other payments, made because of disability. Now, the social security benefit will not be reduced because of compensation payable to a veteran because of service-connected disability. The offset provisions will still require the reduction to be made when a pension is payable to the veteran on account of non-service-connected disability.

SUPPORT FOR THE SADIAC BILL

Public response to the Sadiac bill (H. R. 6452) for reducing federal income taxes can be accurately described as overwhelmingly favorable. This measure would cut the maximum income tax rate from its present 91 per cent to 42 per cent over a five year period. That period could be extended to nine years if necessary to avoid unbalanced budgets and deficit financing. Taxpayers in all the income brackets would be reduced by substantial amounts, and none would be increased. The government would still get all the revenue it legitimately needs—because, according to Representative Sadiac's carefully documented computations, increased tax revenues from expanding and stimulating employment and economic activity would more than offset the

TODAY'S Meditation

Thursday, August 22
Read Matthew 26:36-46.
Not as I will, but as thou wilt.
(Matthew 26:39.)

NEAR the end of three years of internment in the Philippines, an eighteen-year-old boy, the only son of missionary parents, was stricken with virulent malaria and died within forty-eight hours. Everything possible, with limited facilities and medicines, was done to save him, but to no avail. The whole camp was overcome with sorrow. His parents quickly recovered from the crushing blow. They have stayed on in the Philippines, and for a dozen years have been giving effective witness to the power of a living faith in God even where understanding is limited. When Jesus said “Not as I will, but as thou wilt,” He intended it as His call to positive action. A few minutes later He said, “Rise, let be going.” He went on to a cross.

Many mysterious things are beyond our control, but a living faith in God's wisdom, goodness and love sustains His children when sorrow comes.

Prayer
Our Father, when sorrow comes, keep us from being overwhelmed by it. May we see through our tears Thy strong hand held out to set us on our feet once more. May we never lose touch with Thee. In Christ's name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
A vital faith in God keeps us steady even when we do not fully understand.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
The wisdom of basing thought on constructive, perfect, spiritual losses from rate reductions. Hundreds of organizations in every part of the nation—clubs, chambers of commerce, commercial groups, educational institutions, etc., etc.—have gone to record in favor of the Sadiac bill. The list grows steadily.

Mr. Sadiac himself has said that his proposal “is primarily designed to moderate the tax impact on individuals and on small and growing business, and to eliminate the tax barrier to starting new businesses.” It is an obvious fact that present tax laws and rates work a greater hardship on the small business with its limited assets, than on the long established big business with its great assets. These laws, in other words, stand in the way of growth and success—and therefore deprive government of increased tax revenues that would follow growth and success.

The next step is up to Congress.

General and Mrs. Wilfred Kneeling, of London, England, who have been featured speakers at the annual Salvation Army Camp Meetings at Old Orchard Beach which ended this year's 30-day session on Monday of this week.

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER GOING PLACES

PEOPLE are now going places as never before. Vacations and business keep them on the go. And in the means of travel, distance is being annihilated and time made a plaything. Now hurtling through space faster than sound travels, men are dreaming of skyrocketing to the moon and other interesting places.

Once the writer and a companion drove into the country to see an old man about a Liberty Loan. As we talked, I became interested in the sandy road that ran from the old man's house between deep banks worn down with age into the woods and toward a small river. “Where does this road go?” I asked. There was a mischievous twinkle in his keen eyes as the old man replied, “I’ve been living here since the Civil War and I’ve never seen it go anywhere yet.” But I still believe the road was going somewhere. Certain it is that the man who follows a road will go somewhere. Where are you going on the road of life? In the road you must travel, you must have “ten-league boots,” not rocket planes. It is one step at a time and one mile after another. Perseverance may be a heavenly quality, but it should be priced heaven is not gained at a single bound, the path remains to be won. We must build the ladder by which we rise from the lowly earth to the radiant stars. So, take a step forward, and then another, and another.

LIFE LINES by Col. Ralph T. Miller of The Salvation Army

DO I MATTER?

What can one person do? Why does a matter whether I stand up or lie down? I don't matter to the world, but I do matter to the people I love.

The world is a big place, and I am a small part of it. But I am a part of it, and I matter.

My life is a story, and I am the hero. I am the one who makes a difference.

My life is a story, and I am the hero. I am the one who makes a difference.

My life is a story, and I am the hero. I am the one who makes a difference.

My life is a story, and I am the hero. I am the one who makes a difference.

My life is a story, and I am the hero. I am the one who makes a difference.

My life is a story, and I am the hero. I am the one who makes a difference.

My life is a story, and I am the hero. I am the one who makes a difference.

V. A. NEWS LETTER

No name is unique in the 30,000,000 names carried in the central file of Veterans Administration. Even the most unusual are duplicated — some of them many times over.

"So," says M L Stoddard, Manager of the Veterans Administration Center at Togus, Maine, "when you write to VA about your benefit claim or your GI insurance policy, be sure you give your benefit claim (C) number or the number of your insurance policy, whichever applies."

While there may be many names like yours in VA files, your "C" number or your GI insurance policy number is yours and yours alone.

Stoddard explained, He made the point today in an attempt to cut down on "mystery mail" which is costly and time consuming to handle.

Stoddard said "mystery mail" makes up ten per cent of all letters received by VA. This one letter in ten is the villain of the piece. It requires additional correspondence or considerable checking to track down the veteran to whom it refers.

Not only is such mail costly to handle, Stoddard explained, but it also means the writer will not receive a prompt reply, and action on his case must be delayed until the letter is identified.

A widow's income does not affect her eligibility for death compensation payments if her veteran husband died of a service-connected condition. Manager M L Stoddard of the Veterans Administration Center at Togus said today.

Some misunderstanding may exist on this point, Stoddard explained.

"Death compensation," he said, "may be paid the widow of a veteran whose death was the result of his service. Her other income has no bearing on its payment."

"However," Stoddard emphasized, income limitations do apply to VA death pension, which may be paid the widow of a wartime veteran of a non-service-connected condition."

Some misunderstanding may exist on this point, Stoddard explained.

Conservation Farming

In Oxford County

by Douglas L. Marston
Soil Conservation Service

Three ponds and 1900 feet of open drainage ditch were the major conservation projects constructed last week.

The work was excellent for construction work and we were fortunate to have the equipment available to do the jobs.

The first project completed was a dug type pond on the George Emmons, Jr., farm in Bryant Pond. This will be used as a source of water for livestock. The pond is about 7 feet deep and has a capacity of about 75,000 gallons. A backhoe owned by Frederick McMillin was used for the work under the supervision of Doug Marston and Ferry Chapman, Jr., of the Soil Conservation Service.

Another pond which we expect will be completed by the time this is read was at the Harris Hathaway farm in Bryant Pond. This is similar to the pond on the Emmons farm and is being constructed by Mr. McMillin of Bethel.

Another pond was completed last Friday on the Capt. A. Lincoln King farm in South Paris. This pond was built with a bull dozer owned by George Hemond of Minot and the construction was under the supervision of Douglas Marston of the Soil Conservation Service.

This pond has a capacity of about 150,000 gallons of water and will be used for fire protection for King Hill and for recreation. A 4000 foot drainage ditch was put in at the Ivan Smith farm in Buckfield. A backhoe owned by Lester Wiley was used for part of the ditch and ditching type dynamite was used for the very wet areas.

Boys Defeat Fathers Easily

The Pony team players challenged their fathers to a ball game last Saturday afternoon and the boys won handily 22-7. The leading hitters for the old timers were Harlan Hutchins and Ernest Angevine with two hits apiece including a home run. The boys collected 22 hits while their dads were busy getting 10. Leading the boys in hitting honors were Don Rice and Jeff Hutchins with four hits, and Saunders, Doug Rice, York and Salway with three hits each. The umpiring duties were handled by some of the boys' mothers. Mary Rice started calling balls and strikes behind the plate and was relieved by Gertrude Hutchins and Blanche Bennett. Calling plays on the bases were Alberts Angevine and Hazel Newell. Thanks, girls, you all did a fine job.
